Craig Robinson Named President of American Auto Guardian, Inc. ("AAGI")

Schaumburg, IL – American Auto Guardian, Inc. ("AAGI") is pleased to announce that Craig Robinson has joined the company as President. Tim Brugh will move into the CEO position, and lead AAGI's continued growth in all aspects of the automobile industry.

Craig comes to AAGI with nearly 20 years' experience in insurance and third party administration. Craig started his career with Aon Warranty Group, driving operational results through dealership and manufacturer clients. He went on to manage clients such as CarMax, as well as all automotive, appliance and electronic, powersport, medical device and furniture TPAs on behalf of The Warranty Group's wholly-owned insurance company, Virginia Surety Company. As Executive Vice President of the Latin American Region, Craig was ultimately responsible for all elements of The Warranty Group's business in Mexico, Central and South America. Most recently, Craig worked for the largest non-publicly traded auto dealer group in the US before providing various consulting and brokerage services to TPAs, private equity companies, and other business in the automotive aftermarket product industry.

In his new role as AAGI President, Craig will coordinate strategy and development for AAGI's industry-leading products, service, and technology, as well as assume responsibility for the company's day-to-day operations. "I've had a tremendous amount of respect for AAGI for more than a decade," Craig said of the transition. "After many conversations with Tim regarding his vision for the company, I knew this was the right fit for me. AAGI is often referred to as the best company many people have never heard of. Well, that's about to change. We have enormous aspirations and I look forward to working with Tim and our entire team of automotive experts to capitalize on what's been built to date. The sky's the limit for AAGI, and I'm incredibly excited to help continue shaping the company into a dominant force in the automotive aftermarket space."
